This map illustrates the National Highway System (NHS) in the Syracuse, NY area. The map features a network of roads color-coded by their status: blue for the Eisenhower Interstate System (including I-190, I-481, and I-90), red for other NHS routes, green for non-interstate STRAHNET routes, and light green for major STRAHNET connectors. Brown lines represent intermodal connectors, and dashed red lines indicate unbuilt NHS routes. Grey lines show other roads not on the NHS, and black lines with cross-ticks represent railroads, including Conrail and Finger Lakes. The map also highlights various land use areas: orange for census urbanized areas, purple for the Onondaga Indian Reservation, olive green for the Department of Defense (specifically the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve Training Center), light green for national forests, and dark green for national park service land. Water bodies are shown in light blue. Key landmarks and facilities are marked with icons: an airport (Hancock Field U.S. Air Force), an intercity bus terminal, a ferry terminal, a truck/pipeline terminal, a multipurpose passenger facility (Syracuse Intermodal Center), a port terminal, a truck/rail facility, an AMTRAK station, and a public transit station. The map includes labels for major roads such as I-190, I-481, I-90, US-11, US-20, and various state routes (31, 481, 690, 695, 92). It also identifies local areas like North Syracuse, Solway, and Baldwinsville, as well as specific locations like the CONRAIL Dewitt Yard and the Syracuse AMTRAK Station.
